Article R211-3:

Subject to the exceptions provided for in paragraphs 3 and 4 of Article L. 211-7, any offer or sale of travel or holiday services must be accompanied by the appropriate documents in accordance with the rules set out in this section. Separate invoicing for the various elements that make up a holiday purchase does not dispense the vendor from its obligations under the regulatory provisions contained herein.

Article R211-3-1:

The exchange of pre-contractual information and the communication of contractual conditions must be done in writing. This can be done electronically in respect of the conditions outlining the validity and exercise of this procedure, as contained in Articles 1369-1 to 1369-11 of the French Code civil. The name or company name and the address of the vendor, as well as its commercial registry number, are to be indicated, as provided for in section a) of Article L. 141-3. Alternatively, where applicable, the name, address and registry details of the grouping or union are to be indicated, as laid out in Article R. 211-2.

Article R211-4:

- 4° A description of the itinerary where the journey involves several stages;
- 5° The administrative and health procedures to be carried out by nationals of another European Union member State or a State that is party to the European Economic Area Agreement, especially in relation to border crossings, and the time required for such procedures;

6° The tours, excursions and other services either included in the package or available for an additional charge;

7° The minimum or maximum group size required to make the journey or stay possible, and where a minimum number of participants is required, the date by which the purchaser must be informed of any cancellation; this date cannot be set at less than twenty-one days prior to the departure;

8° The amount or percentage of the price to be paid as a deposit upon the signing of the contract, as well as the timetable for the payment of the remainder;

9° The methods for revising prices as laid out in the contract, in accordance with Article R. 211-8;

10° The conditions for contractual cancellations;

11° The conditions for cancellations as defined in Articles R. 211-9, R. 211-10 and R. 211-11;

12° Information concerning an optional insurance policy to cover the consequences of certain types of cancellation or an assistance policy to cover certain specific risks, in particular repatriation costs in the event of an accident or illness;

Article R211-5:

The vendor is bound by any information it gives to the purchaser prior to the purchase, except where this information expressly stipulates the vendor's right to modify certain elements therein. In such cases, the vendor must clearly indicate the way in which such modifications can be made and the elements which they can affect.

In any event, modifications made to information initially provided must be communicated to the purchaser in writing prior to the signing of the contract.

Article R211-6:

The contract between the vendor and the purchaser must be in writing, produced in duplicate (with one copy going to the purchaser) and signed by both parties. 16° Details of the risks covered and the amount of the guarantees provided under the terms of the insurance policy in relation to the consequences of the vendor's civil and professional liability;

17° Details of the insurance policy taken out by the purchaser to cover the consequences of certain cancellation types (policy number & name of insurer), as well as the details of the assistance policy covering certain specific risks, in particular repatriation costs in the event of an accident or illness; in such cases, the vendor must provide the purchaser with a document outlining at least the risks that are covered and those not included;

18° The date by which the vendor must be informed of the purchaser's decision to transfer the contract;

the price of the journey or stay, the portion of the price to which the variation applies, and the currency rate(s) being used to establishing the price that appears in the contract.

Article R211-9:

Where, prior to the departure of the purchaser, the vendor is forced to modify one of the core elements of the contract, such as a significant price increase, and disregards the obligation to inform the purchaser as stipulated in paragraph 13 of Article R. 211-4, the purchaser, without affecting its right to seek damages, and having been informed of the modification by the vendor using any means whereby receipt of this information can be verified, can take the following action:

- either terminate the contract and receive an immediate and complete reimbursement of all monies paid;
- or accept the modification or substitute package proposed by the vendor; in this case an additional clause stipulating the changes must be signed by both parties; a price decrease is to be deducted from any monies still owed by the purchaser or, if the payment already made by the purchaser exceeds the price of the modified service, the excess amount is to be returned to the purchaser prior to departure.

Article R211-10:

In the circumstances provided for in Article L. 211-14, where prior to the purchaser's departure the vendor cancels the journey or stay, the latter must inform the purchaser using any means whereby receipt of this information can be verified; the purchaser, without affecting its right to seek damages, then secures an immediate and complete reimbursement of all monies paid; and in this case the purchaser also receives compensation that is at least equal to the penalty that would have been due if the cancellation had been made by the purchaser on the same date. The provisions of this article in no way prevent the parties from reaching an amicable agreement whereby the purchaser accepts the substitute journey or stay proposed by the vendor.

Article R211-11:

Where, following the purchaser's departure, the vendor is unable to provide a significant proportion of the services outlined in the contract, and where this represents a non-negligible percentage of the price paid by the purchaser, the vendor must immediately take the following steps, without affecting the right of either party to claim damages:

- either offer replacement services in lieu of the agreed services, covering any additional costs involved, and, where the services accepted by the purchaser are of an inferior quality, reimburse the price difference upon the purchaser's return;
- or, where the vendor cannot offer any replacement services or where they are refused by the purchaser for valid reasons, provide the purchaser, at no extra cost, with the means to return to the departure location or any other location accepted by both parties in conditions deemed to be equivalent to those of the originally planned journey. The provisions of this article are applicable where there is a failure to respect the obligation stipulated in paragraph 13 of Article R.211-4.
